THE POST OFFICE CATASTROPHE.

CORONER'S INQUIRY INTO ITS CAUSES-EXPLA-NATION OF THE SUPERVISING INSPECTOR OF

quiry into the deaths of the three men crushed under the falling roof of the Post Office building on Tuesday inst. The United States Equity Chamber was set apart for the purposes of the inquest.

The first witness examined was Mr. Thomas H. Oakshott. He testified:—I am at present Supervising In-spector of Materials, and in charge of the construction of the New York Post Office; I have also charge of the building, partly under the supervision of the Super-vising Architect, Mr. Hill; I had general supervision of that part of the building when the accident hap-pened on May 1; I was appointed about two months before the resignation of Mr. Mullett, the pre-vious Supervising Architect; before that I was superintending the construction of several buildings in Charleston, S. C., and Columbia, S. C.; I was assigned to this building by the present Supervising Architect on the recommendation of the Secretary of the Treas-ary; I was not educated as a civil engineer or archiect, but I have acquired the knowledge necessary to the discharge of my duties in practical work; on the 1st of May, when the roof fell in, I was sitting at my desk; but I knew of the work carried on there, which lst of May, when the roof fell in, I was sitting at my desk; but I knew of the work carried on there, which consisted in the erection of an iron truss; I ordered the truss from Hugh Haven & Co., of Massachusetts, without inviting competition; lurnished Mr. Haven with a photographic drawing of the truss, and took him to the top floor and showed him the truss which I wanted duplicated; an employé of Mr. Haven had general charge of the erection of the truss; my loreman had charge of its immediate supervision, and I had the general supervision.

Why THE TRUSS WAS ORDERED.

When taking charge of my duties in the Post Office in August last I made an examination of the premises, and found a brick wall in the room where the accident occurred to be cracked, and was informed that the wall was carried by four fifteen-inch iron beams; it was a lwelve-lucu wall, thirty-six feet long and nineteen lest high, an extension of a wall beginning on the floor below, and its object was to hold and support the roof; part of this wall on the floor below had been removed in order to enlarge the court room below, in consequence of which the supports became insufficient and caused the cracking of the wall on the floors above and a deflection of the beams in the ceiling of the court room; after a consultation with Mr. Mullett and subsequently with Mr. Hill it was suggested to remove the wall and replace it by an iron truss; previous to this, however, an opening had been made in the wall in order to relieve the weight on the support below; the examinations are generally made after the completion of the want in the ceiling of the court money; the truss to be furnished was to be of the same size, strength and material as the one in the adjoining room, which was designed in Washington; the truss was not examined before it was put up, as all the examinations are generally made after the completion of the wall was completion and I had not examined the work from Mr. Haven that the erection of the walk was completed and checked when anything is f wont down stairs, and on the same evening left for Albuny.

A recess was here taken, after which Mr. Oakshott was again put on the stand and said:—On Tuesday, Alay, at one o'clock, I had just returned to the office and was going up to examine the truss carefully when I heard a crash and Mr. Barton said:—'There goes the truss!' I rushed upstairs and found that the truss had failen; never gave any orders to remove the shores; never inspected or examined the truss, or accepted; and never certified to the vouchers and payment therefor as it was at a time of the month when I was very much engaged.

Averige.—At her late residence, Passaic, N. J., on Sunday, May 6, Jang, widow of the Hon. John B. Averige, and the Standard of the contractors that the truss was to be properly belief and riveted, which was not done, however, and which I consider to be the fault of the contractors, but this omission was not the sole cause of the accident; the inner end of the truss was to be supported by the brick wall, the other end by one vertical support, according to drawings and plans submitted, which were not carried out; the removing of the sbores was not a dangerous work if the erection of the truss had been properly carried out; in my absence the business to superintent this devolved on my foreman; the Treasury depended on the Supervising Architect, the latter on myself, and I depended on my foreman; on Monday alternoon Mr. Dougherty reported that some of the shores carried but little weight, and that he intended to remove some, and I radioal him to be very careful in so doing; Mr. Dougherty ariso reported on Monday ovening, April 30, that the truss was rected in place and all right, and he is a man of great experience; after the accident is xamined the truss, and at first it was my opinion that there was a flaw in the iron; the truss itself I found bent (buckled), and tound the absence of the rafter in the truss, had I examined the trus before its fail I should consider the accident my fault, but this examination not having been made of was the duty of my foreman, Mr. Dougherty, to see everything properly secured; to make the fail of the family are respectfully invited to attend the funeral, from his late residence, 241 Washington and Phallacelpha papers please copy. Brady, — on Monday, May 7, Margara in the 32d year of his age. Relatives and friends of the family are respectfully invited to attend the funeral, from his late residence, 241 Washington and plantacelpha appers please copy. Brady, and 10 Mr. Dougherty, to see everything properly secured; Mr. Dougherty acquired his experience in Washington as a master mechanic in several government buildings, and he is very skilful; several inspections of the unife work have been made by Mr. Muliett as advisory architect; I took charge of the building for the purpose of enlarging the court room, in consequence of which the whole upper story rested on litteen much floor beams weighing down on the ceiling of the court room, cracking the wall resting on it as well as the being below; I have been informed that walls were removed in other parts of the building before; all changes made can be accounted for in the official reports and sufficient reason assigned for every contempated change; what was done before me I cannot tell; my predecessor in office was J. G. Heibert.

At this point the inquest was adjourned till to-day at eleven of clock. It is thought that the investigation will occupy a week at least. The next witnesses to be affed are Foreman Dougherty. Supervising Architect fill, Messrs. Hugh Haven & Co., the builders of the truss, and Mr. Schuman, of the United States Construction Burcau at Washington.

The commission appointed by Postmaster James, pursuant to instructions from Secretary Sherman, to ascertain the cause of the failing of the Post Office root, and II possible to fix the responsibility where it properly belonged, were concluded last evening and sent on to the Secretary of the Treasury.

HOTEL INSPECTION.

INSPECTION OF THE HOTELS BY THE DEPART-MENT OF BUILDINGS-MEANS OF ESCAPE IN CASE OF FIRE TO BE PROVIDED. Superintendent Adams, of the Building Department, has just completed an investigation into the safety of

In the Irving House the halls must be connected with the outside fire escapes and signs be posted in the hails. A chain fire escape must be added to the Twelfith street front.

The Westminster Hotel, Sixteenth street and Irving place, requires undges at the third, fourth, fifth and sixth stories, on the rear of the building, and at the westerly end, acrossa the area.

The Rossmore Hotel requires additional means of escape by connecting the hails on each floor with the outside tire escape. Signs must be posted directing the way to the same, and a chain fire escape is required at each end of the halls to be opened to Seventh avenue.

The Crittenden House, at Broadway and Twenty-sixth street, is reported to be already sufficiently provided with means of egress.

Ample means of egress.

Ample means of escape are reported also as already provided at the Fifth Avenue Hotel.

The St. Omer Hotel, at No. 384 Sixth avenue, is reported as well provided with means of egress.

The means of egress at the Glisey House are already sufficient.

In the Bowery Hotel the hails must be connected, on the second and fifth floors, with the fire escape in front.

A HEAVY CRASH.

Considerable excitement was occasioned yesterday morning in the building at No. 170 Broadway, corner of Maiden lane, by the failing of a safe from the fifth floor to the second story. Fortunately it only resulted in doing damages to the floors and ceilings to the ex-tent of soveral hundred dollars.

The circumstances under which the accident took place were as follows:—Several workmen who were in the employ of the Eagle Safe Company were removing a safe from an office on the second floor to one on the fifth, and were hoisting it through the well hole that runs from the second floor to the top story. When the safe, which was a small one, and weighed only about a thousand pounds, had nearly reached the fifth floor, the "jack" or oaken joist placed across the railings of the well hole at the fifth story, and on which the safe was resting, snapped asunder and the safe fell to the vestibule of the second floor. Fortunately it rested on the floor beams and did not drop through. It however broke through the laths and plastering, doing considerable damage to the offices of the Park Fire Insurance Company on the floor below. A clerk who was within a lew feet of the falling debris when he heard the noise jumped over the little counter by the side of his desk and ran for the doors leading to Broadway. A little fright felt by the clerks in the various offices was all the inconvenience sustained by the large number of persons employed in the building. the employ of the Eagle Safe Company were removing
